

MISS MINA E. CLARK IS BURIED HERE WEDNESDAY

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD IN
FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
AT 3 P. M. JUNE 10

Miss Mina E. Clark who died as a result of an accidental gunshot wound received in Rio Rico, Mexico, on Sunday night, June 7, 1931, was brought to Cameron Wednesday morning where funeral services were held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Miss Clark was attending an entertainment in company with friends when a difficulty arose between a Mexican officer and an American youth. In the struggle, the officer's gun was discharged and the bullet, coming from outside the cafe, fatally injured Miss Clark. The shooting has been described as accidental.

News of the death of Miss Clark was received in Cameron Monday in a telegram from friends, first telling of her injury and later her death. The body was taken to Matamoras and later transferred to her home in La Feria where she had been manager for the Western Union telegraph office for a number of years.

Miss Clark was born in Georgetown in Williamson county on December 7, 1891 and came to Cameron with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Clark, 18 years ago.

After completing her education she taught school for a number of years and later took a course in telegraphy and when that was completed accepted a position in Mincoia and from there was transferred to La Feria where she lived at the time of her death and was manager for the company. She was a young lady of refinements and education and had many friends who mourn her untimely death. She was a devout member of the Methodist church from early girlhood and held her membership in the Cameron church.

The body was brought to Cameron from La Feria Wednesday morning by Santa Fe rail and taken to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Clark. The funeral hour was at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church with Rev. C. A. Lehmberg, pastor, conducting the services. Interment was made in Oak Hill Cemetery with Green Brothers in charge of the funeral arrangements. Flowers in profusion were given by friends who knew her and to express the high esteem in which she was held in her home city as well as in the hearts of the many who knew her elsewhere.

Pall bearers were W. H. Stafford, Cecil Cone, B. F. Bonds, Leo Wilkerson, Clark Kelly and Mason Longmire. Honorary pall bearers were Dr. A. S. Epperson, Dr. M. C. Sapp, E. O. Schiller and Oscar Schiller.

W. T. HURT, PIONEER IS BURIED IN LEXINGTON

FORMER CITIZEN OF MILAM
COUNTY DIES AT AGE OF
80 YEARS MAY 31

W. T. Hurt, 80, pioneer and former resident of the Minerva community in Milam county, died at his home at Lexington in Lee county on Sunday night, May 31, 1931 following a period of illness and declining health due to his advanced age.

Funeral services for the aged pioneer were held Monday afternoon, June 1, 1931 at the church in Lexington at 4 o'clock p. m. with the ministers of the Baptist and Methodist churches conducting the rites. Interment was made in the Lexington cemetery. The funeral was attended by a large number of people who had known and revered the pioneer who lived through a stirring period in Texas and the South. They came from all walks of life to honor him who in the years he lived befriended his fellowmen and wrought to make his country a better place in which to live. His death has brought sorrow to many of the pioneer citizens in Milam county where he had lived for many years.

Before moving to Lexington he made his home at Minerva and leaves many warm friends who mourn his death. He had made his home for a number of years with his daughter, Mrs. George McGregor and family.

Mr. Hurt was a man of fine traits of character and lived a life filled with noble deeds and leaves a monument reared high in the hearts of those who knew him. He was in every sense a pioneer and never forgot the traditions of the old South where he had lived so long.

Hon. C. M. Beard of Milano, former member of the Legislature who had known Mr. Hurt 60 years, in a memorial address, paid a beautiful tribute to him. Attending the funeral from Milano were a number of friends and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beard of Cameron and their daughter, Miss Verna Beth Beard.

Deceased is survived by his daughter, Mrs. George McGregor of Lexington, three grand children and one great grand child. He was an uncle of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beard of Cameron.

Their friends here extend sympathy to them in their loss and great bereavement.

Business Men's Bible Class Baptist Church Elect Officers

The Business Men's Bible Class of the Baptist Church held their semi-annual election of officers and teachers Sunday May 31 and the following were elected:

Rev. N. D. Timmerman, teacher; J. C. Martin, assistant teacher; Roy Law, president; J. H. DuBois, first vice president; H. P. Culpepper, second vice president; Gus Evans, third vice president; John Ryan, secretary; M. J. Faulkner, reporter; Miss Dorothy Kidd, pianist.

On Sunday, June 7 the lesson was Jesus Crucified and the class enjoyed a most able discussion of the subject by the teacher.

For our lesson next Sunday we study the Resurrection and the Ascension. The meaning of the resurrection is perhaps the most interesting subject before man today.

The discussion of these immensely interesting and helpful subjects by our pastor and teacher are most instructive and we urge you to come to our class and enjoy these lessons with us.

9:45 a. m. Class room adjoining Baptist church building.

Dr. W. R. Newton Delivers Address To Parent-Teachers On Needs of Health Nurse

The following is a full text of the address delivered by Dr. W. R. Newton of the Cameron Hospital to the County Council of the Parent-Teachers Association on the benefits of a public health nurse.

Preventable Diseases

It seems to me that the things we most need in Hygiene for Milam County are, first, some good plan or way to teach the people how to live and what to do that they may live most and serve best; second, some plan to get them to put this teaching into daily practice—really get them to carry it out. Now I feel sure that the best method to get results would be through the work of a trained County Health Nurse, working continually among the people in the towns and rural districts; continuously teaching them in a thousand ways how to live and what to do to prolong their lives.

The people are too apt to disregard the rules of health and go on in the same old rut, regardless of the ordinary lectures in schools or at meetings. But, if a county health nurse were appointed in each county and continuously teaching and checking, to see that this teaching is put into practice, in a few years, you would see a vast difference in the general health of the county.

We have lost people each year in Milam County whose death could have been prevented. Think of the number of people who have died within the past ten years in Milam county with typhoid fever, diptheria, scarlet fever, small pox and tetanus (lock jaw)! Now all deaths from these diseases could have been prevented by vaccination. Just think of it! And think how many people living in Milam County have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever. A death from typhoid fever should never occur; it is uncalled for; it is preventable. It is not mean to say that the patients who have died with typhoid fever did not receive the best of treatment because I know that they did receive the very best care and treatment. The thing I am telling you is that no one should ever contract typhoid fever.

All growths and moles on the skin should be removed, because some of them finally become malignant. (Cancer.)

They should be vaccinated against typhoid fever at once; that is, every body who has not had typhoid fever; or who has not previously been vaccinated against it.

How can we get the people to accept this teaching and put it into practice? The only sure way I see is through the constant, untiring work of the county health nurse. This work carried out would be worth millions to this generation and to the future generations.

I would like to say just a few words, too, about acute appendicitis. A good many years ago, the first thing that the family or neighbors thought of to do with a child when it cried with pain in the abdomen was to give it some kind of purgative, oil, salts or pills. Mind you, some people do that until this good day! Now listen! This is wrong. Remember, purgation in acute appendicitis means perforation. If you give purgatives to any person with a severe case of acute appendicitis, nine times out of ten, it will cause the appendix to perforate (rupture), and I want you to remember that it is in these cases of appendicitis where the appendix has perforated or ruptured before the patient reaches the surgeon where we get the death rate in appendicitis. In the hands of good surgeons no case of appendicitis is lost if it reaches the surgeon before the appendix has perforated or become gangrenous. So, do not give purgatives to your child when he has acute abdominal pain, but call your family doctor at once and take his advice.

All growths and moles on the skin should be removed, because some of them finally become malignant. (Cancer.)

Periodical Health Examinations

Every person, every where, should have a careful physical examination at least once a year. Often, people are suffering with some form of kidney disease, heart disease, or other disease, which they do not suspect, that is, they know nothing about. An examination each year often reveals

MISS FANNYE LOU DAVIS BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. JOHN B. HENDERSON IN FT. WORTH

Miss Fannye Lou Davis of Fort Worth became the bride of John B. Henderson of Cameron in a quiet home wedding occurring in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Harrison in Fort Worth at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, June 10, 1931. Mrs. Harrison is a sister of the bride.

The ceremony uniting the lives of these two Texans was witnessed by members of the immediate families and a few invited friends. The home was beautiful in modest springtime floral decorations, a superb theme of color and fragrance to welcome the guests and the bridal party. The wedding music was given by Mrs. J. L. Clinton of Cameron at the piano. Rev. Chas. Schugart, pastor of the Central Methodist church in Ft. Worth read the impressive marriage rites.

Mrs. Ernest Beard of Hillsboro, sister of groom, sang 'Oh Promise Me.'

Local and state wide interest combine to make this wedding one of the most interesting of the year. Miss Davis as a member of the high school faculty in Cameron for a number of years commands a large friendship here and her marriage will be of interest to many.

Says 'Sentinel' Was Changed To Herald

To the Editor:

Oh, yes, the Cameron 'Sentinel' was changed to The Herald, though I have no exact proof.

When my father moved from Waller county near Hockley we came in a covered wagon drawn by two yoke of oxen. Of course my father drove while mother and the two babies rode in the wagon. The remainder of us must ride the horses and drive the cattle. The cols gave so much trouble they tied them behind the wagons. Even I, so small, rode a horse on a side saddle with a long riding skirt which came down to the knees of the horse. I must have been a funny sight for most everyone we met spoke of me.

We got along fine until we reached the Navasot river. I was most full and all the rest were badly scared, but I fully trusted to my brother to take care of me. After all it was swimming only a short distance, but very swift.

I am thankful that we have good roads and bridges now, although more people are killed now than during those years. God cared for us. I wonder if we were closer to Him then than now.

Just at the river I saw my first train. Cameron had no railroad for many years. My father shipped 3 barrels of syrup and had to ship to Rockdale. One of the barrels contained ribbon cane syrup. I can almost taste it now. It was delicious.

He grew the cane on our own land and ground it on a wooden cane mill. The power was a horse with myself on her back driving her around the circle. I got very tired and once I died, so I rested that evening. He cooked the juice in iron kettles. While cooking it had to be skimmed. They put the skimmings in a barrel. About the time it was full it became sour and was poured into a hole in the ground so he hogs could drink it. It made them drunk. Such a funny sight, and such large hogs so helpless. All hogs were loose outside then. They acted like a drunk man although I had never seen a drunk man then.

Diocese Priests Get Honors At Retreat Held In Houston

The following story of interest is taken from the Houston Chronicle:

The annual retreat for the priests being held at St. Mary's University in La Porte, will continue through Thursday night, according to Rev. Father D. P. O'Connell of La Porte. All priests of the diocese are attending.

At the opening of the retreat on Monday, Bishop C. E. Byrne announced that he had received word from Rome that dignities had been conferred on the following members of the clergy.

Rt. Rev. E. A. Kelley, V. G., Beaumont, was elevated to the dignity of protonotary apostolic; Rt. Revs. Jacob Schenitzer of Blessed Sacrament Church of Houston, John B. Gleissner of St. Josephs Church, Bryan, and Joseph Pelnar of Assumption Church, West, were elevated to the rank of domestic prelates of the holy see.

The retreat is being conducted by Rev. A. Siliung, O. M. I. of San Antonio.

Father Schenitzer sailed from Galveston Wednesday afternoon to visit his mother and three brothers in Germany. His three brothers are priests.

Father Schenitzer will return to Houston early in September.

Rev. Geo. Apel, pastor of St. Monica's was unable to attend the retreat in Houston due to an operation. He sent his regrets to the Bishop. Father Apel's condition is much improved and friends will be glad to know that his condition, at first feared to be serious, has shown a decided improvement.

Mrs. Leland Green and son, Carol, motored to Dallas last week and were accompanied by Miss Jolly Blanche Pitts who returned to her home after teaching the past term in Cameron; and Lee Braun, who entered Southern Methodist University for a summer term in school. Mrs. Green was accompanied home by her son, Leland Green Jr., who has been in school at S. M. U. the past term.

RETURN FROM 7 WEEKS STAY IN GOLDEN WEST

MR. AND MRS. CHAS. ZIDELL AND
CHILDREN ENJOY LOS ANGELES VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zidell and their daughters, Madelyn and Anita, 10 months of age, returned to Cameron Sunday from a seven weeks vacation trip to the Golden West, spending the major part of the time visiting Mr. Zidell's father and family in Los Angeles.

They left Cameron on April 20 going by way of Dallas and taking the central route out to El Paso through Abilene and the heart of the Davis Mountains. From El Paso they passed through New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado and on to California. They were driving an Essex challenger recently purchased by Mr. Zidell and the distance of 1725 miles was driven in three and a half days.

The trip was a delightful one, passing through the places of interest on the way and driving through the deserts. They went to the home of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Zidell. A brother Ted Zidell is operating a dry goods business in Hollywood section of the western metropolis.

The motion picture colony attracted their attention and they visited in the studios of Universal and witnessed the process of making talking pictures in other studios. They were at the studio of Joan Crawford who was making a western picture. The trip back was over the same route. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado was passed during a night drive through the painted desert country and a heavy rain was falling over the desert as they drove through.

Commenting upon the outlook Mr. Zidell said that the west had not escaped the depression. The belief, however is expressed there that the nation has passed through the worst of the hard times and conditions are certain to become better.

Mr. Zidell returns to his St. Louis Store in Cameron, ready for the summer and fall business and is planning big things for the patrons of this store.

"Dracula," Greatest Film By Lon Chaney Director Coming

Tod Browning is Hollywood's leading collector of skeletons. As the motion picture's leading director of weird, fantastic stories—morbid tales of strange lands and stranger happenings—there is not merely a skeleton in Browning's closet, as the saying is. There are many.

For many years he has directed, as well as written, most of the screen stories in which the late Lon Chaney has appeared, and he has become famous throughout the industry as the creator of some of the wierdest characters in the fiction of filmdom. 'The Unholy Three,' that strange story of thieves, is one of them; 'The Unknown,' dealing with the adventures of an armless man in a traveling gypsy circus, is another; still another is 'London After Midnight,' in which members of a vaudeville act are engaged to impersonate human vampires, and bring to the story an atmosphere of intense creepiness. Another of Browning's productions, though one in which Chaney did not appear, was 'The Thirteenth Chair,' involving a 'spooky' seance, with dead men in the circle.

But now the director has just completed the filming of 'Dracula,' which far exceeds the others in the strangeness of its story.

'The character of Count Dracula,' says Browning, 'is by all odds the weirdest character in fiction. To the screen is brought a strange 'unlabeled' creature—a man neither living nor dead, and bringing death and madness to his victims. Alive and active during the hours of darkness, the coming of daylight returns Dracula until sunset to a temporary death from which he can only rise if he has lain in a casket filled with his own native earth.

It is a terrifying story, and it is presented with such sincerity and with such an assumption of truth that it exercises a most powerful effect on the emotions of the spectator. The audience watches it frozen with horror, but so fascinated that even those who faint insist on returning to the

In view of the fact that many farms in Milam County are to have a surplus of green tomatoes as well as ripe ones I am submitting some very excellent recipes for the preservation of this fruit.

Methods for the preservation of the ripe tomato will follow in due time. There could be on each pantry shelf at least a dozen varieties of tomato preservation.

Spanish Pickle

One peck green tomatoes, dozen large onions, dozen sweet green peppers, 1 quart finely cut celery, 4 quarts ripe tomatoes, cut fine, 1 gallon vinegar, 4 cups brown sugar, and 1 teaspoon each of ground cloves, mace and allspice.

Chop tomatoes, onions and peppers

fine. Put in salt water overnight. Drain well, add celery and ripe tomatoes. Cook an hour. Pack and seal while hot.

Green Tomato Pickle

One gallon green tomatoes, one-half dozen large onions, 3 cups brown sugar, one-half lemon, 3 pods red pepper, 1 pint vinegar and 1 pint water, 1 tablespoon of each of the following: whole cloves, Celery seed (crushed), mustard seed, ground mustard, Allspice and whole black pepper.

Slice tomatoes and onions thin. Sprinkle over them one-half cup salt and let stand over night in crock or enamel vessel. Tie spices in cheese cloth bag. Slice lemon and chop two pepper pods very fine. Drain the tomato and onion well. Add all seasoning except one pepper pod to the vinegar, then add tomato and onion. Cook for one half hour. Remove spice bag to prevent darkening. Pack in pint jars and process in boiling water 15 minutes.

Green Tomato Soy

Wash tomatoes and cut into quarters, put enough through food chopper to make one gallon. Grind with this six large onions. Mix tomatoes with 2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, one-half tablespoon each ground cinnamon, cloves and allspice, 4 cups brown sugar, 4 tablespoons celery seed and 4 tablespoons white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon white pepper. Let stand 4 to 6 hours. Cook ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Let stand over night. In the morning taste, and add more salt or seasonings if necessary. Bring to boil. Pack in jars, process 15 minutes in boiling water and seal.

Dilled Green Tomatoes

Select firm green tomatoes, wash, and place grape leaves in bottom of jar, put in a layer of tomatoes and a layer of dill, until jar is filled. Place thin slice onion and one slice garlic, one bay leaf, and one inch horse radish root on top. (Use grated horseradish if necessary.) Fill the jar with boiling liquid made as follows: 1 gallon water, 1 cup vinegar, 3-4 cup salt. Seal and let stand two weeks before using. If large green tomatoes are used slice one half inch thick.

the beginning of diseases which, if corrected at once, saves the patient long years of suffering. Often saves them from a premature grave.

Public Health Nurses

Experience which is rightly called a great teacher, has taught many communities in many states the necessity of County Health Nurses.

The human race is ill. The human race is anaemic; and the world which is a paradise, but by man converted into a hospital, is seen and judged through the eyes of the invalid.

Dear friends, how many of your personal acquaintances are absolutely sound of health at fifty, at forty, at thirty? Three, two, one? Mind you do not place the standard of health too low—not below that of a flock of birds, for example, each of which is equally whole physically and equally beautiful.

The birds of the air and fishes of the sea, the deer of the forest and lilies of the field, represent life of their kind in the fullness of its glory but not so man! A sound man—a health aristocrat, a model for a Greek sculptor of old—is rare to see. Indeed, the violation of hygienic laws has been so general and long-prevailing that human degeneracy has come to be accepted as the appointed lot of humanity. Human life is but an apology, a makeshift, a compromise. The decadent condition of human life is such that some kind of poison habit is supposed to be necessary in order to live pleasantly and contentedly.

And what training! With all our abundant conceit, our habits of life hygienically have been more than deplorable. Our educational institutions have scarcely touched the edges of that training which the human race most needs, which promotes the respect due, and care for, the human body as a mechanism, a vehicle, the perfection or imperfection of which controls favorably or unfavorably every condition of life. Unlike aristocrats among the roses and the lower animals which man himself is pleased to train he lacks the advantage of their superb development. He lacks that very culture he has given them—the result of infinite care and study. In the training of the roses, the thrifty gardener relentlessly pulls by the roots all noxious weeds, and burns their seeds. He eliminates, as far as possible, all influence which deteriorate the life of his royal plant. What are we but products of influence, good, bad, or indifferent, every one of which counts for good or ill? The physical training of man (so intimately connected with the moral training) has been left to chance and to passing fashions. Man's family, his college, his church, his town, his state, his country, have tolerated the weeds and parasites which choke and devour the best of human life. For want of fostering care, how much of human flower and fruit has been lost to the world.

A County Nurse and the family physician together can do far more good than either alone, and the county nurse should be at work all the time. In 1927, in the state of Pennsylvania, the death rate from diphtheria, typhoid fever, small pox and scarlet fever was 44 percent higher in the counties without county nurses than in those with this service.

A careful nurse will often bring health to a patient in spite of the mistakes of a doctor. She has opportunities of intimate and personal relationship that doctors do not always have.

There is no doubt that the average county could have better health service and would have it if the tax payers were convinced that it was worth paying for. Better health services involves: Better doctors, more general hospitals for community use, more and better public health work, and most important, County Health Nurses.

I mention better doctors rather than more doctors because while it is true that the number of physicians practicing in small villages and the open country is decreasing, good roads and increasing office practice make it possible for them to care for more patients than they could have done twenty years ago.

And why should the county not have as good medical service as the city? If 50,000 people in a town need a general hospital and a well-baby clinic and reasonably complete medical service—and can afford to pay for them by getting together as taxpayers and patients—why should 50,000 people who happen to be scattered over a county or two feel that they can get along without?

In the days when there was a community hearse in a country neighborhood, and carpenters made the coffins of a young man, who was ashamed of the old worn-out hearse, went about soliciting money to purchase a new one. Presenting the purpose to an old man of means, he received from this selfish citizen the reply: 'I won't give you a dollar. I helped to buy the old hearse twenty years ago, and neither I nor my family have ever had any benefit from it.' Against this trait of selfishness, I place the most beautiful of all traits—sympathy. I would rather have the record of Clara Barton in the great reckoning day than that of any statesman whose portrait hangs in the hall of fame.

During our Civil War she went from battlefield to battlefield, and was just as kind to the boys in gray as she was to the boys in blue.

After the Civil War Queen Victoria desired to communicate with Clara Barton regarding the same mission of mercy for the German army, where the Queen's daughter was then engaged. But Clara Barton was already on the ocean, and soon after was in the war zone with the German army. She was the first who climbed the defenses of Strausburg, where she ministered to the wounded and dying. At the close of her work there she took ten thousand garments with her to France. There she waited till the Commune fell and again she was with the first to reach the suffering. In our own war with Spain she went to Cuba, and though then past sixty years of age, she stood among the cots of our wounded and sick soldiers, soothing their sufferings and cheering their hearts.

Still later on, in storm-swept Galveston, Texas, she fell at her post of duty and was borne back by loving hands to her home, where she recovered and again resumed her work of love and mercy, to carry it on to the end of her long and useful life.

No wonder the King and Court of Germany bestowed upon her medals of remembrance; no wonder the Grand Duchesse of Baden placed upon her the 'Red Cross of Geneva'; and in the great day of reward, He who bore the cross for us all, will place upon Clara Barton the crown of eternal life.

A conscientious nurse is a benefaction to any county. She comes in times of anxiety as a messenger of hope and comfort.

Miss Florence Nightingale chose for her life's career one of the noblest of the worthy professions—that of a nurse. The road was often rough but she persevered and won the gra-atitude and admiration of the whole world.

The Florence Nightingale pledge is this:

'I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.'

Now God meant everyone on this earth to be a success in his particular field. As Dr. Russell Conwell said, 'He doesn't like a failure any more than the rest of us.' He has given everyone of us power to attain our legitimate ambition; to do the thing we were created to do.

In the life of Clara Barton there is recorded the gratitude of a wounded soldier whose life was saved by this heroic woman. Miss Barton said that an hour after she had dressed the man's injuries, when she stood near his cot, she felt a feeble pull at her dress. Motioning her nearer, the man whispered as the tears coursed down his cheeks, 'You saved my life.' Within an hour the same thing occurred again, and day after day as Miss Barton came within the reach of his cot this man would attract her attention and utter the four grateful words, 'You saved my life,' to which he never added anything. Weeks after the departure of this man from the hospital, Miss Barton heard a rap at her door. On opening it she found the same man on crutches; he had come to her with the same message of appreciation.

'Life can be lived profitably, or it can be lived so that neither the individual who lives it nor those who come in touch with that life will get any benefit out of it. Life is a valuable possession and it should be used in being a blessing to others.'

Nurses of distinguished mental and moral merit take their life in their hands that they may ameliorate the lot of the sick and dying poor. In a thousand ways, wise, noble and good, they deny themselves leisure, health and pleasure for the advantage of unfortunates who are conspicuously inferior to them in every particular.

Our immortal Washington said: 'All blessings upon them and their divine art of healing that mends bruised bodies and anxious hearts.'

County Nurses share this honor with scientists doctors and others who are striving to bring health and happiness to the bodies and minds of humanity.

auditorium to see the conclusion of the picture.

'Dracula,' in short, among all the motion pictures which have been shown since the inception of the industry, is absolutely in a class by itself, since it is the only picture dealing seriously with this strange subject of vampires. In fantastic horror it far exceeds anything that Chaney ever did during his lifetime, and takes its place at once as the most unusual production in the history of the screen.

The original novel was written by Bram Stoker, an Englishman, and the stage play based on the story was given its first presentation in New York City in 1927. And now the screen presents this hair-raising tale with a wealth of detail and a dramatic intensity which makes of 'Dracula' one of the outstanding productions of the year.

Local theatregoers will have an opportunity to see this strangest of all motion pictures when 'Dracula' presents an engagement at the Milam Theatre on Sunday and Monday with a cast which includes three members of the original stage company—Bela Lugosi, as Count Dracula; Edward Van Sloan, as Dr. Van Helsing; and Herbert Bunston, as Dr. Seward. Other members of the screen cast are Helen Chandler, Dwight Frye, David Manners, Joan Standing, Frances Dade, Charles Gerrard and Moon Carroll.

SUNNY'S SIDE

The Firemen threw an awful scare into the Packers Sunday at Waco with their terrific hitting. Vogelsang obtained two home runs in the first game, Wiley also got a home run. McDonald had a perfect batting average in the first game getting three doubles and a single in 4 times up.

The Temple Cowboys will play at Cameron Sunday afternoon June 14. On June 21 the Waco Packers are due to be seen in action on the Lawless Green field against the Firemen.

McDonald continues to fatten his batting average as last week's averages gave a .528 percentage while this week, including the Waco games gives him a .565 average.

The Firemen phoned the Killeen Scorpions for a game on Monday morning and were informed that Killeen had played their required twelve games to qualify for the first half and refused to meet the Firemen.

Wiley's home run was rather a freak in that the ball cleared the board wall and stuck in the wire netting above the wall. Franklin playing left field for the Packers, threw his glove against the ball and it fell to the street below. Vogelsang's home runs cleared the barrier with plenty to spare.

many errors when they have a ball game within their grasp is more than the fans can understand.

Irwin Vogelsang, a brother of Egan Vogelsang has signed with the Firemen and this rounds out the hardest hitting outfield that Cameron has ever boasted.

In Sunday's first game Parker struck out but three Firemen while he walked one. Zeke struck out five and walked the same number.

The Temple Cowboys will be seen in action here Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. The Firemen are determined to be on top of the Temple Telegram race provided they can get games. All those above Cameron in the league standing were asked for games and Temple Cowboys are the only ones who would consent to meet the Firemen.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

Firemen Divide Double Header With Waco

The Waco Packers and the Cameron Firemen divided a double header at the Katy Park in Waco Sunday afternoon. The first game was won by the Packers thirteen to six, while Cameron won the second game two to one.

During the first game the Firemen made a total of ten errors which lost the game for them. In total bases the Firemen outhit the Packers getting three home runs, and three doubles during the first game while the Packers got four doubles in the extra base hit column.

Zeke Alford was the starting pitcher for the Firemen and would have won his game handily except for the fact the Firemen were making eight errors behind his pitching, which is enough to lose any ball game. At the beginning of the seventh Vogel-sang assumed the pitching assignment and in the two innings he pitched the Packers scored six more runs on four hits and two errors.

In the second game the Firemen used three pitchers as the terrific heat was more than the pitchers could stand. Worcester was the starting pitcher and in the two innings he pitched he let the Packers down with no runs and no hits. Luksa then pitched one and one third innings and his wildness gave the Packers the only run they obtained in the second game.

Public Is Urged To Patronize Railroads

Brotherhood of Trainmen Point Out Why This Should Be Done

Houston, May 29—The shipping public was urged to patronize railroads and to avoid other forms of transportation in a resolution passed today by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, meeting in national convention here. 'The resolution pointed out,' said President A. F. Whitney, 'that the public has a direct interest in the railroads, since it has guaranteed them a five and three-fourths percent return.' The brotherhood also reaffirmed its position on the six-hour day. Another resolution urged railroads to raise the age limit on entry into railroad service from 35 years to 46. Still another asked railroads to employ only trained and experienced yard men as long as these are available.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

"Something should be done about this"

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days. They apply only to residence telephones—not to business or rural service.

To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office.

MISS MINA E. CLARK IS BURIED HERE WEDNESDAY

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD IN
AT 3 P. M. JUNE 10

Miss Mina E. Clark who died as a result of an accidental gunshot wound received in Rio Rico, Mexico, on Sunday night, June 7, 1931, was brought to Cameron Wednesday morning where funeral services were held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Miss Clark was attending an entertainment in company with friends when a difficulty arose between a Mexican officer and an American youth. In the struggle, the officer's gun was discharged and the bullet, coming from outside the cafe, fatally injured Miss Clark. The shooting has been described as accidental.

News of the death of Miss Clark was received in Cameron Monday in a telegram from friends, first telling of her injury and later her death. The body was taken to Matamoras and later transferred to her home in La Feria where she had been manager for the Western Union telegraph office for a number of years.

Miss Clark was born in Georgetown in Williamson county on December 7, 1891 and came to Cameron with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Clark, 18 years ago.

After completing her education she taught school for a number of years and later took a course in telegraphy and when that was completed accepted a position in Mineola and from there was transferred to La Feria where she lived at the time of her death and was manager for the company. She was a young lady of refinement and education and had many friends who mourn her untimely death. She was a devout member of the Methodist church from early girlhood and held her membership in the Cameron church.

The body was brought to Cameron from La Feria Wednesday morning by Santa Fe rail and taken to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Clark. The funeral hour was at 3 o'clock in the First Methodist church with Rev. C. A. Lehman, pastor, conducting the services. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery with Green Brothers in charge of the funeral arrangements. Flowers in profusion were given by friends who knew her and to express the high esteem in which she was held in her home city as well as in the hearts of the many who knew her elsewhere.

Pall bearers were W. H. Stafford, Cecil Cone, B. F. Bonds, Leo Wilkerson, Clark Kelly and Mason Longmire. Honorary pall bearers were Dr. A. S. Epperson, Dr. M. C. Sapp, E. O. Schiller and Oscar Schiller.

W. T. HURT, PIONEER IS BURIED IN LEXINGTON

FORMER CITIZEN OF MILAM
COUNTY DIES AT AGE OF
80 YEARS MAY 31

W. T. Hurt, 80, pioneer and former resident of the Minerva community in Milam county, died at his home at Lexington in Lee county on Sunday night, May 31, 1931 following a period of illness and declining health due to his advanced age.

Funeral services for the aged pioneer were held Monday afternoon, June 1, 1931 at the church in Lexington at 4 o'clock p. m. with the ministers of the Baptist and Methodist churches conducting the rites. Interment was made in the Lexington cemetery. The funeral was attended by a large number of people who had known and revered the pioneer who lived through a stirring period in Texas and the South. They came from all walks of life to honor him who in the years he lived befriended his fellowmen and wrought to make his country a better place in which to live. His death has brought sorrow to many of the pioneer citizens in Milam county where he had lived for many years.

Before moving to Lexington he made his home at Minerva and leaves many warm friends who mourn his death. He had made his home for a number of years with his daughter, Mrs. George McGregor and family.

Mr. Hurt was a man of fine traits of character and lived a life filled with noble deeds and leaves a monument reared high in the hearts of those who knew him. He was in every sense a pioneer and never forgot the traditions of the old South where he had lived so long.

Hon. C. M. Beard of Milam, former member of the Legislature who had known Mr. Hurt 60 years, in a memorial address, paid a beautiful tribute to him. Attending the funeral from Milam were a number of friends and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beard of Cameron and their daughter, Miss Verna Beth Beard.

Deceased is survived by his daughter, Mrs. George McGregor of Lexington, three grand children and one great grand child. He was an uncle of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beard of Cameron.

Their friends here extend sympathy to them in their loss and great bereavement.

Business Men's Bible Class Baptist Church Elect Officers

The Business Mens Bible Class of the Baptist Church held their semi-annual election of officers and teachers Sunday May 31 and the following were elected:

Rev. N. D. Timmerman, teacher; J. C. Martin, assistant teacher; Roy Law, president; J. H. DuBois, first vice president; H. P. Culppeper, second vice president; Gus Evans, third vice president; John Ryan, secretary; M. J. Faulkner, reporter; Miss Dorothy Kidd, pianist.

On Sunday, June 7 the lesson was Jesus Crucified and the class enjoyed a most able discussion of the subject by the teacher.

For our lesson next Sunday we study the Resurrection and the Ascension. The meaning of the resurrection is perhaps the most interesting subject before man today.

The discussion of these immensely interesting and helpful subjects by our pastor and teacher are most instructive and we urge you to come to our class and enjoy these lessons with us.

Dr. W. R. Newton Delivers Address To Parent-Teachers On Needs of Health Nurse

The following is a full text of the address delivered by Dr. W. R. Newton of the Cameron Hospital to the County Council of the Parent-Teachers Association on the benefits of a public health nurse.

Preventable Diseases
'It seems to me that the things we most need in Hygiene for Milam County are, first, some good plan or way to teach the people how to live and what to do that they may live most and serve best; second, some plan to get them to put this teaching into daily practice—really get them to carry it out. Now I feel sure that the best method to get results would be through the work of a trained County Health Nurse, working continually among the people in the towns and rural districts; continuously teaching them in a thousand ways how to live and what to do to prolong their lives.

'The people are too apt to disregard the rules of health and go on in the same old rut, regardless of the ordinary lectures in schools or at meetings. But, if a county health nurse were appointed in each county and continuously teaching and checking, to see that this teaching is put into practice, in a few years, you would see a vast difference in the general health of the county.

'We have lost people each year in Milam County whose death could have been prevented. Think of the number of people who have died within the past ten years in Milam county with typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, small pox and tetanus (lock jaw)! Now all deaths from these diseases could have been prevented by vaccination. Just think of it! And think how many people living in Milam County have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever. A death from typhoid fever should never occur; it is uncalculated for; it is preventable. I do not mean to say that the patients who have died with typhoid fever did not receive the best of treatment because I know that they did receive the very best care and treatment. The thing I am telling you is that no one should ever contract typhoid fever.

er. They should be vaccinated against typhoid fever at once; that is, every body who has not had typhoid fever or who has not previously been vaccinated against it.

'How can we get the people to accept this teaching and put it into practice? The only sure way I see is through the constant, untiring work of the county health nurse. This work carried out would be worth millions to this generation and to the future generations.

'I would like to say just a few words, too, about acute appendicitis. A good many years ago, the first thing that the family or neighbors thought of to do with a child who cried with pain in the abdomen was to give it some kind of purgative, oil, salts or pills. Mind you, some people do that until this good day! Now listen! This is wrong. Remember, purgation in acute appendicitis means perforation. If you give purgations to any person with a severe case of acute appendicitis, nine times out of ten, it will cause the appendix to perforate (rupture), and I want you to remember that it is in these cases of appendicitis where the appendix has perforated or ruptured before the patient reaches the surgeon where we get the death rate in appendicitis. In the hands of good surgeons no case of appendicitis is lost if it reaches the surgeon before the appendix has perforated or become gangrenous. So, do not give purgatives to your child when he has acute abdominal pain, but call your family doctor at once and take his advice.

'All growths and moles on the skin should be removed, because some of them finally become malignant. (Cancer.)

Periodical Health Examinations

'Every person, every where, should have a careful physical examination at least once a year. Often, people are suffering with some form of kidney disease, heart disease, or other disease, which they do not suspect, that is, they know nothing about. An examination each year often reveals

Says 'Sentinel' Was Changed To Herald

To the Editor:
Oh, yes, the Cameron 'Sentinel' was changed to The Herald, though I have no exact proof.

When my father moved from Waller county near Hockley we came in a covered wagon drawn by two yoke of oxen. Of course my father drove while mother and the two babies rode in the wagon. The remainder of us must ride the horses and drive the cattle. The cols gave so much trouble they tied them behind the wagons. Even I, so small, rode a horse on a side saddle with a long riding skirt which came down to the knees of the horse. I must have been a funny sight for most everyone we met spoke of me.

We got along fine until we reached the Navasot river. I was most full and all the rest were badly scared, but I fully trusted to my brother to take care of me. After all it was swimming only a short distance, but very swift.

I am thankful that we have good roads and bridges now, although more people are killed now than during those years. God cared for us. I wonder if we were closer to Him then than now.

Just at the river I saw my first train. Cameron had no railroad for many years. My father shipped 3 barrels of syrup and had to ship to Rockdale. One of the barrels contained ribbon cane syrup. I can almost taste it now. It was delicious.

He grew the cane on our own land and ground it on a wooden cane mill. The power was a horse with myself on her back driving her around the circle. I got very tired and once I cried, so I rested that evening. He cooked the juice in iron kettles. While cooking it had to be skimmed. They put the skimmings in a barrel. About the time it was full it became sour and was poured into a hole in the ground so the hogs could drink it. It made them drunk. Such a funny sight, and such large hogs so helpless. All hogs were loose outside then. They acted like a drunk man although I had never seen a drunk man then.

Diocese Priests Get Honors At Retreat Held In Houston

The following story of interest is taken from the Houston Chronicle:

The annual retreat for the priests being held at St. Mary's University in La Porte, will continue through Thursday night, according to Rev. Father D. P. O'Connell of La Porte. All priests of the diocese are attending.

At the opening of the retreat on Monday, Bishop C. E. Byrne announced that he had received word from Rome that dignities had been conferred on the following members of the clergy.

Rt. Rev. E. A. Kelley, V. G., Beaumont, was elevated to the dignity of protonotary apostolic; Rt. Revs. Jacob Schenzer of Blessed Sacrament Church of Houston, John B. Gleissner of St. Josephs Church, Bryan, and Joseph Pelnar of Assumption Church, West, were elevated to the rank of domestic prelates of the holy see.

The retreat is being conducted by Rev. A. Siliung, O. M. I. of San Antonio.

Father Schenzer sailed from Galveston Wednesday afternoon to visit his mother and three brothers in Germany. His three brothers are priests.

Father Schenzer will return to Houston early in September.

Rev. Geo. Apel, pastor of St. Monica's was unable to attend the retreat in Houston due to an operation. He sent his regrets to the Bishop. Father Apel's condition is much improved and friends will be glad to know that his condition, at first feared to be serious, has shown a decided improvement.

Mrs. Leland Green and son, Carol, motored to Dallas last week and were accompanied by Miss Jolly Blanche Pitta who returned to her home after teaching the past term in Cameron; and Lee Braun, who entered Southern Methodist University for a summer term in school. Mrs. Green was accompanied home by her son, Leland Green Jr., who has been in school at S. M. U. the past term.

RETURN FROM 7 WEEKS STAY IN GOLDEN WEST

MR. AND MRS. CHAS. ZIDELL AND
CHILDREN ENJOY LOS

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Zidell and their daughters, Madelyn and Anita, 10 months of age, returned to Cameron Sunday from a seven weeks vacation trip to the Golden West, spending the major part of the time visiting Mr. Zidell's father and family in Los Angeles.

They left Cameron on April 20 going by way of Dallas and taking the central route out to El Paso through Abilene and the heart of the Davis Mountains. From El Paso they passed through New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado and on to California. They were driving an Essex challenger recently purchased by Mr. Zidell and the distance of 1725 miles was driven in three and a half days.

The trip was a delightful one, passing through the places of interest on the way and driving through the deserts. They went to the home of his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Zidell. A brother Ted Zidell is operating a dry goods business in Hollywood section of the western metropolis.

The motion picture colony attracted their attention and they visited in the studios of Universal and witnessed the process of making talking pictures in other studios. They were at the studio of Joan Crawford who was making a western picture. The trip back was over the same route. The Grand Canyon of the Colorado was passed during a night drive through the painted desert country and a heavy rain was falling over the desert as they drove through.

Commenting upon the outlook Mr. Zidell said that the west had not escaped the depression. The belief, however is expressed there that the nation has passed through the worst of the hard times and conditions are certain to become better.

Mr. Zidell returns to his St. Louis Store in Cameron, ready for the summer and fall business and is planning big things for the patrons of this store.

"Dracula," Greatest Film By Lon Chaney Director Coming

Tod Browning is Hollywood's leading collector of skeletons. As the motion picture's leading director of weird, fantastic stories—morbid tales of strange lands and stranger happenings—there is not merely a skeleton in Browning's closet, as the saying is. There are many.

For many years he has directed, as well as written, most of the screen stories in which the late Lon Chaney has appeared, and he has become famous throughout the industry as the creator of some of the wierdest characters in the fiction of filmdom. 'The Unholy Three,' that strange story of thieves, is one of them; 'The Unknown,' dealing with the adventures of an armless man in a traveling gypsy circus, is another; still another is 'London After Midnight,' in which members of a vaudeville act are engaged to impersonate human vampires, and bring to the story an atmosphere of intense creepiness. Another of Browning's productions, though one in which Chaney did not appear, was 'The Thirteenth Chair,' involving a 'spooky' seance, with dead men in the circle.

But now the director has just completed the filming of 'Dracula,' which far exceeds the others in the strangeness of its story.

'The character of Count Dracula,' says Browning, 'is by all odds the weirdest character in fiction. To the screen is brought a strange 'undead' creature—a man neither living nor dead, and bringing death and madness to his victims. Alive and active during the hours of darkness, the coming of daylight returns Dracula until sunset to a temporary death from which he can only rise if he has lain in a casket filled with his own native earth.

'It is a terrifying story, and it is presented with such sincerity and with such an assumption of truth that it exercises a most powerful effect on the emotions of the spectator. The audience watches it frozen with horror, but so fascinated that even those who faint insist on returning to the

In view of the fact that many farms in Milam County are to have a surplus of green tomatoes as well as ripe ones I am submitting some very excellent recipes for the preservation of this fruit.

Methods for the preservation of the ripe tomato will follow in due time. There could be on each pantry shelf at least a dozen varieties of tomato preservation.

Spanish Pickle

One peck green tomatoes, dozen large onions, dozen sweet green peppers, 1 quart finely cut celery, 4 quarts ripe tomatoes, cut fine, 1 gallon vinegar, 4 cups brown sugar, and 1 teaspoon each of ground cloves, mace and allspice.

Chop tomatoes, onions and peppers

fine. Put in salt water overnight. Drain well, add celery and ripe tomatoes. Cook an hour. Pack and seal while hot.

Green Tomato Pickle

One gallon green tomatoes, one-half dozen large onions, 3 cups brown sugar, one-half lemon, 3 pods red pepper, 1 pint vinegar and 1 pint water, 1 tablespoon of each of the following: whole cloves, Celery seed (crushed), mustard seed, ground mustard, Allspice and whole black pepper.

Slice tomatoes and onions thin. Sprinkle over them one-half cup salt and let stand over night in crock or enamel vessel. Tie spices in cheese cloth bag. Slice lemon and chop two pepper pods very fine. Drain the tomato and onion well. Add all seasoning except one pepper pod to the vinegar, then add tomato and onion. Cook for one half hour. Remove spice bag to prevent darkening. Pack in pint jars and process in boiling water 15 minutes.

Green Tomato Soy

Wash tomatoes and cut into quarters, put enough thorough food chopper to make one gallon. Grind with this six large onions. Mix tomatoes with 2 cups vinegar, 2 tablespoons salt, one-half tablespoon each ground cinnamon, cloves and allspice, 4 cups brown sugar, 4 tablespoons celery seed and 4 tablespoons white mustard seed, 1 tablespoon white pepper. Let stand 4 to 6 hours. Cook ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Let stand over night. In the morning taste, and add more salt or seasonings if necessary. Bring to boil. Pack in jars, process 15 minutes in boiling water and seal.

Dilled Green Tomatoes

Select firm green tomatoes, wash, and place grape leaves in bottom of jar, put in a layer of tomatoes and a layer of dill, until jar is filled. Place thin slice onion and one slice garlic, one bay leaf, and one inch horse radish root on top. (Use grated horseradish if necessary.) Fill the jar with boiling liquid made as follows: 1 gallon water, 1 cup vinegar, 3-4 cup salt. Seal and let stand two weeks before using. If large green tomatoes are used slice one half inch thick.

the beginning of diseases which, if corrected at once, saves the patient long years of suffering. Often saves them from a premature grave.

Public Health Nurses

'Experience which is rightly called a great teacher, has taught many communities in many states the necessity of County Health Nurses.

'The human race is ill. The human race is anaemic; and the world which is a paradise, but by man converted into a hospital, is seen and judged through the eyes of the invalid.

'Dear friends, how many of your personal acquaintances are absolutely sound of health at fifty, at forty, at thirty? Three, two, one? Mind you do not place the standard of health too low—not below that of a flock of birds, for example, each of which is equally whole physically and equally beautiful.

'The birds of the air and fishes of the sea, the deer of the forest and lilies of the field, represent life of their kind in the fullness of its glory but not so man! A sound man—a health aristocrat, a model for a Greek sculptor of old—is rare to see. Indeed, the violation of hygienic laws has been so general and long-prevailing that human degeneracy has come to be accepted as the appointed lot of humanity. Human life is but an apology, a makeshift, a compromise. The decadent condition of human life is such that some kind of poison habit is supposed to be necessary in order to live present and contentedly.

'And what training! With all our abundant conceit, our habits of life hygienically have been more than deplorable. Our educational institutions have scarcely touched the edges of that training which the human race most needs, which promotes the respect due, and care for, the human body as a mechanism, a vehicle, the perfection or imperfection of which controls favorably or unfavorably every condition of life. Unlike aristocrats among the roses and the lower animals which man himself is pleased to train he lacks the advantage of their superb development. He lacks that very culture he has given them—the result of infinite care and study. In the training of the roses, the thrifty gardener relentlessly pulls by the roots all noxious weeds, and burns their seeds. He eliminates, as far as possible, all influence which deteriorate the life of his royal plant. What are we but products of influence, good, bad, or indifferent, every one of which counts for good or ill? The physical training of man (so intimately connected with the moral training) has been left to chance and to passing fashions. Man's family, his college, his church, his town, his state, his country, have tolerated the weeds and parasites which choke and devour the best of human life. For want of fostering care, how much of human flower and fruit has been lost to the world.

'A County Nurse and the family physician together can do far more good than either alone, and the county nurse should be at work all the time. In 1927, in the state of Pennsylvania, the death rate from diphtheria, typhoid fever, small pox and scarlet fever was 44 percent higher in the counties without county nurses than in those with this service.

'A careful nurse will often bring health to a patient in spite of the mistakes of a doctor. She has opportunities of intimate and personal relationship that doctors do not always have.

'There is no doubt that the average county could have better health service and would have it if the tax payers were convinced that it was worth paying for. Better health services involves: Better doctors, more general hospitals for community use, more and better public health work, and most important, County Health Nurses.

'I mention better doctors rather than more doctors because while it is true that the number of physicians practicing in small villages and the open country is decreasing, good roads and increasing office practice make it possible for them to care for more patients than they could have done twenty years ago.

'And why should the county not have as good medical service as the city? If 50,000 people in a town need a general hospital and a well-baby clinic and reasonably complete medical service—and can afford to pay for them by getting together as taxpayers and patients—why should 50,000 people who happen to be scattered over a county or two feel that they can get along without?

'In the days when there was a community hearth in a country neighborhood, and carpenters made the coffins of a young man, who was ashamed of the old worn-out hearth, went about soliciting money to purchase a new one. Presenting the purpose to an old man of means, he received from this selfish citizen the reply:

'I won't give you a dollar. I helped to buy the old hearth twenty years ago, and neither I nor my family have ever had any benefit from it.'

'Against this trait of selfishness, I place the most beautiful of all traits—sympathy. I would rather have the record of Clara Barton in the great reckoning day than that of any statesman whose portrait hangs in the hall of fame.

'During our Civil War she went from battlefield to battlefield, and was just as kind to the boys in gray as she was to the boys in blue.

'After the Civil War Queen Victoria desired to communicate with Clara Barton regarding the same mission of mercy for the German army, where the Queen's daughter was then engaged. But Clara Barton was already on the ocean, and soon after was in the war zone with the German army. She was the first who climbed the defenses of Strausburg, where she ministered to the wounded and dying. At the close of her work there she took ten thousand garments with her to France. There she waited till the Commune fell and again she was with the first to reach the suffering. In our own war with Spain she went to Cuba, and though then past sixty years of age, she stood among the cots of our wounded and sick soldiers, soothing their sufferings and cheering their hearts.

'Still later on, in storm-wreath Galveston, Texas, she fell at her post of duty and was borne back by loving hands to her home, where she recovered and again resumed her work of love and mercy, to carry it on to the end of her long and useful life.

'No wonder the King and Court of Germany bestowed upon her medals of remembrance; no wonder the Grand Duches of Baden placed upon her the 'Red Cross of Geneva' and in the great day of reward, He who bore the cross for us all, will place upon Clara Barton the crown of eternal life.

'A conscientious nurse is a benefaction to any county. She comes in times of anxiety as a messenger of hope and comfort.

'Miss Florence Nightingale chose for her life's career one of the noblest of the worthy professions—that of a nurse. The road was often rough but she persevered and won the gratitude and admiration of the whole world.

'The Florence Nightingale pledge is this:

'I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.'

'Now God meant everyone on this earth to be a success in his particular field. As Dr. Russell Conwell said, 'He doesn't like a failure any more than the rest of us.' He has given everyone of us power to attain our legitimate ambition; to do the thing we were created to do.

'In the life of Clara Barton there is recorded the gratitude of a wounded soldier whose life was saved by this heroic woman. Miss Barton said that an hour after she had dressed the man's injuries, when she stood near his cot, she felt a feeble pull at her dress. Motioning her nearer, the man whispered as the tears coursed down his cheeks, 'You saved my life.' Within an hour the same thing occurred again, and day after day as Miss Barton came within the reach of his cot this man would attract her attention and utter the four grateful words, 'You saved my life,' to which he never added anything. Weeks after the departure of this man from the hospital, Miss Barton heard a rap at her door. On opening it she found the same man on crutches; he had come to her with the same message of appreciation.

'Life can be lived profitably, or it can be lived so that neither the individual who lives it nor those who come in touch with that life will get any benefit out of it. Life is a valuable possession and it should be used in being a blessing to others.

'Nurses of distinguished mental and moral merit take their life in their hands that they may ameliorate the lot of the sick and dying poor. In a thousand ways, wise, noble and good, they deny themselves leisure, health and pleasure for the advantage of unfortunates who are conspicuously inferior to them in every particular.

'Our immortal Washington said: 'All blessings upon them and their divine art of healing that mends bruised bodies and anxious hearts.' County Nurses share this honor with scientists doctors and others who are striving to bring health and happiness to the bodies and minds of humanity.'

auditorium to see the conclusion of the picture.

'Dracula,' in short, among all the motion pictures which have been shown since the inception of the industry, is absolutely in a class by itself, since it is the only picture dealing seriously with this strange subject of vampires. In fantastic horror it far exceeds anything that Chauey ever did during his lifetime, and takes its place at once as the most unusual production in the history of the screen.

'The original novel was written by Bram Stoker, an Englishman, and the stage play based on the story was given its first presentation in New York City in 1927. And now the screen presents this hair-raising tale with a wealth of detail and a dramatic intensity which makes of 'Dracula' one of the outstanding productions of the year.

Local theatregoers will have an opportunity to see this strangest of all motion pictures when 'Dracula' presents an engagement at the Milam Theatre on Sunday and Monday with a cast which includes three members of the original stage company—Bela Lugosi, as Count Dracula; Edward Van Sloan, as Dr. Van Helsing; and Herbert Bunston, as Dr. Seward. Other members of the screen cast are Helen Chandler, Dwight Frye, David Manners, Joan Standing, Frances Dade, Charles Gerrard and Moon Carroll.

The Christian Church of Cameron will conclude a great revival Sunday night. Dr. John W. Darby of San Antonio, Texas, the world's only endowed evangelist has been in Cameron three weeks and will conclude his services Sunday when he will deliver two of his greatest sermons, the last one, 'Great Purposes and Interrupting Voices.' Sunday night is an interpretation of the unfavorable providences of God. He answers the questions, Why these things happen.

Friday night he speaks on 'Triumphant Centinities.' This sermon is said to be one of his best.

Plans are being made to have all the membership of the Christian churches of the County in to these services to hear this evangelist Sunday. The membership of the church is invited and word has been sent out to all.

Frigidaire Announces Complete Line Of Electric Water Coolers

Dayton, Ohio, June 9—A complete new line of electric water coolers has been announced by Frigidaire Corporation, subsidiary of General Motors. The refrigerating mechanism is covered by a three year guarantee. The coolers are finished in metallic lacquer, with chrome plated hardware. There are models for bottled water and for use with city pressure. The new line is comprised of five models, of which three are of the individual type for office use with large units to meet the requirements of a general office or small industrial plant. In addition the company is building two tank type coolers for factories and public places. The larger of these will provide cold drinking water for 250 people, the announcement says.

Among the first places in which the new Frigidaires will be installed is the Empire State Building, erected by Alfred E. Smith and associates in New York.

SUNNY'S SIDE

The Firemen threw an awful scare into the Packers Sunday at Waco with their terrific hitting. Vogel-sang obtained two home runs in the first game, Wiley also got a home run. McDonald had a perfect batting average in the first game getting three doubles and a single in 4 times up.

The Temple Cowboys will play at Cameron Sunday afternoon June 14. On June 21 the Waco Packers are due to be seen in action on the Lawless Green field against the Firemen.

McDonald continues to fatten his batting average as last week's averages gave a .528 percentage while this week, including the Waco games gives him a .565 average.

The Firemen phoned the Killeen Scorpions for a game on Monday morning and were informed that Killeen had played their required twelve games to qualify for the first half and refused to meet the Firemen.

Wiley's home run was rather a freak in that the ball cleared the board wall and stuck in the wire netting above the wall. Franklin playing left field for the Packers, threw his glove against the ball and it fell to the street below. Vogel-sang's home runs cleared the barrier with plenty to spare.

many errors when they have a ball game within their grasp is more than the fans can understand.

Irwin Vogel-sang, a brother of Egan Vogel-sang has signed with the Firemen and this rounds out the hardest hitting outfield that Cameron has ever boasted.

In Sunday's first game Parker struck out but three Firemen while he walked one. Zeke struck out five and walked the same number.

The Temple Cowboys will be seen in action here Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. The Firemen are determined to be on top of the Temple Telegram race provided they can get games. All those above Cameron in the league standing were asked for games and Temple Cowboys are the only ones who would consent to meet the Firemen.

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief.

"I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

FORMER CAMERON MAN ENJOYS READING HOME PAPER

Post greetings have been received this week from Joe Sisson of Mounds, Oklahoma, who formerly lived in Cameron. He is a reader of The Herald and commenting on the news contained therein last week, said that he was much pleased to hear that they were contemplating organizing a band here. Mr. Sisson said that he had 'blown about as much breath in the Cameron Band as most any person, as he put ten years of straight time in and had no regrets of the time spent and had gotten much enjoyment from it.'

Mr. Sisson's late father was a former band man in Cameron and many will remember the splendid music given by the early bands of Cameron.

The Herald appreciates the interest Mr. Sisson has evidenced in the 'Old Home Town Paper.'

Miss Ivy Armstrong left Saturday for her home in Belton where she will visit for a few days and will then go to Austin where she will take summer work in State University. Miss Armstrong was a successful teacher of playground activities and was exceedingly popular with her pupils.

Firemen Divide Double Header With Waco

The Waco Packers and the Cameron Firemen divided a double header at the Katy Park in Waco Sunday afternoon. The first game was won by the Packers thirteen to six, while Cameron won the second game two to one.

During the first game the Firemen made a total of ten errors which lost the game for them. In total bases the Firemen outthit the Packers getting three home runs, and three doubles during the first game while the Packers got four doubles in the extra base hit column.

Zeke Alford was the starting pitcher for the Firemen and would have won this game handily except for the fact the Firemen were making eight errors behind his pitching, which is enough to lose any ball game. At the beginning of the seventh Vogel-sang assumed the pitching assignment and in the two innings he pitched the Packers scored six more runs.

on four hits and two errors.

In the second game the Firemen used three pitchers as the terrific heat was more than the pitchers could stand. Worcester was the starting pitcher and in the two innings he pitched he let the Packers down with no runs and no hits. Luka then pitched one and one third innings and his wildness gave the Packers the only run they obtained in the second game.

Public Is Urged To Patronize Railroads

Brotherhood of Trainmen Point Out Why This Should Be Done

Houston, May 29—The shipping public was urged to patronize railroads and to avoid other forms of transportation in a resolution passed today by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, meeting in national convention here. 'The resolution pointed out,' said President A. F. Whitney, 'that the public has a direct interest in the railroads, since it has guaranteed them a five and three-fourths percent return.' The brotherhood also reaffirmed its position on the six-hour day. Another resolution urged railroads to raise the age limit on entry into railroad service from 35 years to 46. Still another asked railroads to employ only trained and experienced yard men as long as these are available.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return. That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed.)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

"Something should be done about this"

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days. They apply only to residence telephones—not to business or rural service.

To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office.
